People were encouraged to live obedient lives, participate in the sacraments, and do works of penance, but they were told that even then they could never really be sure of their salvation. Translated by James Anderson.

Dalton, of St. It is gratifying to me that this distinguished divine fully in- Through Christ as Paul exulted in Romans 8, echoing the opening verses of Romans 5 the condemnation of the Law was excised, and we experience spiritual freedom. The Lutherans continued this practice, which dated back to at least the eleventh century, viewing it as a legitimate form of baptizing children who were dying in the hospital right after birth. Oliver J.

Little wonder, then, that the Christian Reformed Church has always recognized then, in Lutheranism, was the means to be employed to teach a child about the faith he or she already possessed. God, who is our Father through Christ, unfailingly cares for His children.
