It seems to me that, these days, we hear more and more about wards or even hospitals closing because of nursing staff shortages. Unlimited access to Nursing Times When we co-produce research, this means that researchers, healthcare staff and public contributors collaborate to develop research. The book clearly explains what needs to be considered in paying service users. The index is clear and easy to use. Measuring the impact of patient and public involvement: the need for an evidence base. Implementing, embedding, and integrating practices: an outline of normalization process theory. CLINICAL FOCUS Getting patients up and moving shortens length of hospital stay the participants suggested a melody instead of a spoken signal.
